Dear Rita,

I have found the Amorin Stone, but have yet to get possession of it. I know its location. It is in Bellatrix Lestrange's vault at Gringotts. But, I do have a means of collecting it. Soon you will have your story. If you are still interested in our deal, please notify me by post.

Sincerely,

Dolores Umbridge

Neville,
we know what you are up to and it is wrong. You are setting yourself up for misery. If you don't end it, we will.

Power of song.

1st.

There are sweetly tender songs that bear
To the passion stirred and listening heart,
In the music of their love-blasting air,
The resistless power of Cupid's dart,
So swift the tuneful measure'll carry
From soul to soul the arisles of love
It seems the work of some kind fancy;
The coldest heart will its melody move.

Ind.

And oft memory links the tone that's gone
With the blissful tone that's still in the ear,
And hope from a heavenly note flies on
To a note more heavenly still that is near:
And oh! how the eyes of beauty glisten
When music has reached her innocent soul,
Like the silent stars that shine and glisten
While the angelic choir their melodies roll.
